Bay St. George Long Term Care Family Experience

Background

Survey Instrument

The validated long term care family experience survey that was administered to family of long term care residents throughout the Western region was the Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems (CAHPS) Nursing Home Survey: Family Member Instrument (Appendix A) developed by Alberta Health Services in Canada. The survey was administered electronically through Google Forms.

Method

Long term care facilities generated a list of email addresses of resident family members and emailed the survey link. Other facilities had students or a nurse on ease-back administer the survey over the telephone and entered the information directly into Google Docs.

Sample

All resident family members were given the opportunity to complete the survey. For the Bay St. George Long Term Care Centre, 35 participants completed the survey.

Privacy, Confidentiality, Data Security

Privacy and confidentiality were achieved as the survey was completed anonymously and electronically through Google Docs. Any information that could potentially identify the family members was deleted. The data was stored on a password protected computer in the Western Memorial Health Clinic used by Information and Quality staff.

Data Analysis

Survey data was entered directly into Google Docs and the information transferred to a data sheet which was then analyzed using Statistical Package for Social Sciences (SPSS). Descriptive statistics were calculated on regional and site specific data to obtain a general perspective of family or next of kin experiences with long term care services at Western Health. All comments were grouped based on common themes and included in this report as well as listed in Appendix B. The following report provides survey results for the Bay St. George Long Term Care Centre.

Results

Demographics

For the Bay St. George Long Term Care Centre, a total of 35 family members completed the survey. To gain a more thorough understanding of the demographics of the family or next of kin being surveyed and their loved ones living in long term care, respondents were asked several questions; relation to the resident, if the resident was discharged from the facility or had died, how long the resident lived there, and if they expected the family member to live in a long term care home permanently. When asked the relationship to the resident, 20.0% reported that the resident was their spouse or partner, 54.3% reported their parent, 2.9% reported their aunt or uncle, 20.0% reported their sibling, and 2.9% reported their child. Although efforts were taken to reduce the potential that a family member or next of kin received a survey after the resident had died, two respondents indicated that the resident had died. Just over 68% of respondents indicated that the resident lived in long term care for 12 months or longer, 8.6% reported 6 months to almost 12 months, 8.6% reported 3 months to almost 6 months, 5.7% reported 1 month to almost 3 months, and 2.9% reported less than one month. Just over 74% reported that they expected the resident to live in a long term care home permanently.

Respondents were asked about how many times they visited the resident in the past 6 months. Thirty seven point one percent reported more than 20 times, 8.6% reported 11-20 times, 20.0% reported 6-10 times, 17.1% reported 2-5 times, and 11.4% reported 0-1 times. Respondents were also asked to indicate whether they were the people who had the most experience with the residents' care and 77.1% reported yes, 11.4% reported no, 5.7% reported don't know, and 5.7% did not respond.

Other questions were asked about finances, power of attorney, and substitute decision maker (See Table 1). The majority of respondents had power of attorney and were the resident's substitute decision maker. They were also asked gender, education, and ethnic background. Nearly 26% of respondents were male, 68.6% female and 5.7% did not respond. Nearly 34.3% had completed grade school or some high school, 25.7% completed high school, 5.7% completed post-secondary technical school, 5.7% completed some university or college, 17.2% reported that they completed a college or university degree, and 11.4% did not report. Eighty five point seven percent of respondents were white/Caucasian, 5.7% were aboriginal, 2.9% indicated other, and 5.7% did not report.

Table 1. Respondent Information

Question	Yes (%)	No (%)	Don't know (%)	Did not respond (%)
In the last 6 months, did you help your family with managing finances, such as paying bills or filling out insurance claims?	48.6	45.7	0.0	5.7
Do you have power of attorney for your family member?	57.1	34.3	2.9	5.7
Are you your family member's substitute decision maker (next of kin)?	91.4	2.9	0.0	5.7

Resident Care

Several questions were asked about nursing care in terms of the respondents' experiences over the past six months (See Figure 1). Of those who reported that they had tried to find a nurse, licensed practical nurse (LPN) or personal care attendant (PCA), 86.7% reported they could usually or always find one when they wanted one. Nearly 75% reported that they had always or usually seen the nursing staff treat the resident with kindness. Just over 77% reported that they usually or always felt that the nursing staff cared about the resident. Respondents were asked if in the last 6 months, they saw any resident behave in a way that made it hard for nurses or aides to provide care such as yelling, pushing, or hitting. Just over 17.1% reported yes and of those, 83.3% reported that the nurses and aides always or usually handled this situation in a way that they felt was appropriate. When asked if they had ever seen any nursing staff be rude to their loved one or any other resident, 77.1% reported no, 5.7% reported yes and 17.1% did not respond. Respondents were asked how often the resident looked and smelled clean in the last 6 months and 74.2% reported usually or always.

Respondents were asked questions about whether they helped residents with certain aspects of their care over the past six months and if this was because the staff either did not help or made the resident wait too long. When asked if they had helped the resident with eating, 40.0% reported yes. Of those who reported yes, 14.3% reported that it was because the nursing staff either did not help or made them wait too long. When asked if they helped the resident with drinking, nearly 34.3% reported yes and 16.7% reported that they helped because the nursing staff did not help or made the resident wait too long. Respondents were also asked if they helped the resident with toileting and 8.6% reported yes. Just over 33% reported that they helped the resident with toileting because the nursing staff did not help or made the resident wait too long. Respondents were also asked if they helped with the care of the resident when they visited and 60.0% reported yes, while 5.7% reported that they felt the long term care home staff expected them to help. Nearly 80% of respondents reported that the nursing staff always or usually treated them with courtesy and respect.

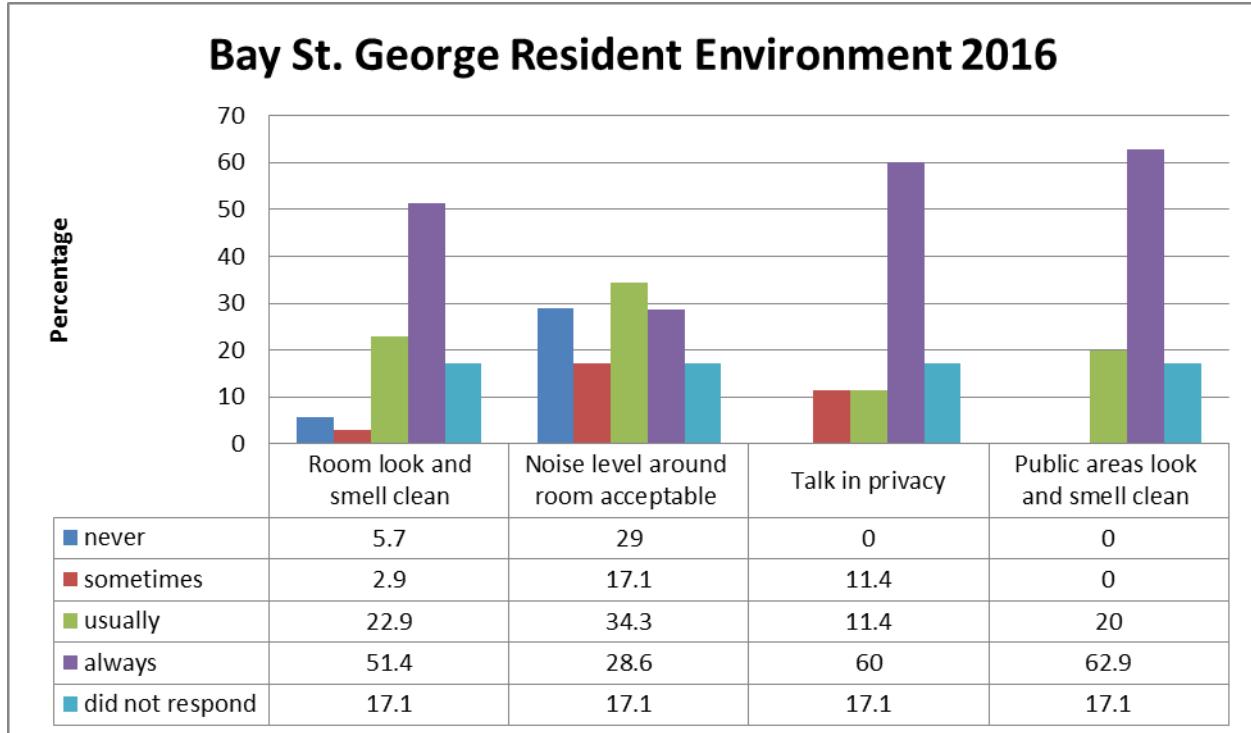

Obtaining Information

Questions about obtaining information were asked in relation to the last 6 months. Nearly 60.0% of respondents reported that they wanted to get information about their family member from nursing staff and 90.4% reported they always or usually got the information as soon as they wanted. Nearly 75% reported that the nursing staff explained things in a way that was easy for them to understand and 80.0% reported that nursing staff did not ever try to discourage them from asking questions about their family member. Respondents were asked if they had asked the long term care home staff for information about payments or expenses and 25.7% reported yes. Of those asking for this information, 100% reported that they always or usually got all the information they wanted.

Environment

Respondents were asked to report on various aspects of the environment based on the last 6 months (See Figure 2). When respondents were asked how often the residents' room looked and smelled clean, 74.3% report usually or always and 82.9% reported that the public areas looked and smelled clean. Nearly 63% reported that the noise level around the residents' room was acceptable to them. Privacy is also an important aspect of long term care. When respondents were asked how often they were able to find places to talk to the resident in private, 71.4% reported usually or always. Respondents were also asked if they had ever seen the nursing staff fail to protect any residents' privacy while the resident was dressing, showering, bathing, or in a public area and 80.0% reported no.

Residents' Personal Belongings

Questions were asked related to personal belongings over the last 6 months. When asked how often residents' personal medical belongings (e.g., dentures, hearing aids, eye glasses) were damaged or lost, 48.6% reported never, 2.9% reported once, 31.4% reported two or more times, and 17.1% did not report. When asked how often the residents' clothes were damaged or lost, 31.4% reported never, 31.5% reported once or twice, and 37.1% did not indicate.

Communication

Respondents were asked several questions about overall care in the long term care facility in the last 6 months. When respondents were asked if they were ever unhappy with the care the resident received, 11.4% reported yes, 71.4% reported no and 17.1% did not report. Of those who reported having concerns, 100% reported that they spoke to long term care home staff about this concern and 50% were usually satisfied with the way the staff handled these problems, and 50% were sometimes or never satisfied. Of those who reported having concerns over the last 6 months, 50% reported that they stopped themselves from talking to any long term care home staff about their concerns because they thought staff would take it out on the resident.

Care Conferences and Involvement in Care

Nearly 60% of respondents reported being involved in decisions about the residents' care over the last 6 months and 71.4% reported being usually or always involved as much as they wanted to be. When respondents were asked about whether they have been part of a care conference, either in person or by telephone, over the last 12 months, 37.1% reported yes. For those who said no, they were asked to report whether they had an opportunity to be a part of a care conference and 81.3% reported yes, and 8.7% did not report.

Overall Care

When respondents were asked to rate the care on a scale of 0 to 10, with 0 being the worst care possible and 10 being the best care possible, the average was 8.38, the median was 8.0 and the ratings ranged from 0 to 10.

Nearly 63% said they would definitely recommend the long term care home to someone needing long term care, 17.1% said probably yes, 2.9% said definitely no and 17.1% did not report. Just over 48.6% of respondents indicated that there were usually or always enough nursing staff in the long term care home, 34.2% reported sometimes or never and 17.1% did not report. Some comments indicated respondents felt there should be more staff.

Opportunities for Improvement

Overall results indicate that the Bay St. George Long Term Care Centre services have many strengths including availability and kindness of nurses and their ability to handle difficult situations appropriately. Other strengths include cleanliness of the physical environment, privacy, and sharing of information with next of kin/family.

For the Bay St. George Long Term Care Centre, opportunities for improvement include:

- Explore ways to reduce the level of noise around resident rooms;
- Explore more effective problem solving strategies when issues arise; and
- Explore opportunities to improve families' perceptions of their involvement in care through such means as care conferences.

64. Do you have any suggestions how care and services at this nursing home could be improved? If so, please explain.

Please return the completed survey in the postage-paid envelope. Thank you for completing this survey. Your opinions are important to us.

Appendix B

Family Comments

1. Bigger rooms, visiting places.
2. A secure outside area (eg. park, bench area) for residents to enjoy in safety.
3. Check to see if they need to be changed more often.
4. Get out a bit more.
5. I think they need to look at is for front-line staff should be more aware of basic information of their resident and should not send the family member to other workers for help (such as social workers). They should maintain one staff member on the floor and not just being the desk in the offices (such as in protective) and doing so would make family members feel more secure about their loved ones being watched and cared for. Regulations regarding visitors to the home should be made more readily available to visitors. When an incident occurs and the family member is called the notes regarding are too vague to articulate what happened with the resident. Also lack of communication about these events between nursing staff, such as nursing staff being unaware of an incident when it occurs and when it is brought up by a family member.
6. More nursing staff or personal care attendants to help ease the workload. More recreational activities for the residents (such as musical entertainment and conversation partners).
7. More physiotherapy for stroke victims and more therapy in general to promote residents' independence. Urine smell within the family member's room needs to be removed.
8. More staff.
9. My recommendation is that there should be more staff and that there should be more one on one time to interact with residents especially those with Alzheimer's disease and dementia.
10. Pets should be allowed (pet therapy), it helps residents.
11. Residents should have more recreational activities for them.
12. Would prefer that the men and women were separated on Protective Care. Feels there is potential for sexual misconduct with males and females who are incompetent and openly sharing the same space.
